about the festival Welcome to The Totally Huge New Music Festival brought to you by the tura events co.

The Totally Huge New Music Festival has been established to create an international focus for New Music activity in Western Australia.

Cutting edge composers and performers have continually come out of WA and The Festival is committed to creating a permanent structure to ensure that their work is presented in Perth.

The Festival will bring leading New Music artists from around the world for local audiences to experience the best from elsewhere and for local artists to have enhanced opportunities for international collaborations.

The principal funding agency, The Australia Council and all the sponsors for this first Festival must be applauded for their willingness to support this new venture so essential to the healthy cultural life of this City and State.

Contemporary composers and performers are a vital cog on the cultural wheel. The spin offs from their creativity across all artforms are endless.

The Totally Huge New Music Festival 97 is the first of what is planned to be an annual event. If you want to keep informed on what's happening next year and beyond please get on the tura database (info below).

The tura events co wishes to thank all the artists participating in this years festival who have given so much to make this event possible and likewise thank you the audience for supporting this exciting event. Enjoy!
